What our clients are saying

'Olivia Bliss is exceptionally good with clients and especially those who are vulnerable. She has great attention to detail and reports back fully and quickly following a hearing making it easy to work with her. Olivia is clearly passionate about the work she does and her commitment to securing the best outcome for her clients is obvious.' Amy Woolfenden, Solicitor, Beck Fitzgerald (2020)

Olivia is a dedicated child law practitioner. Her specialism is care proceedings; representing local authorities, parents and children. She has acted in numerous lengthy hearings involving complex expert evidence, intervening parties and children giving evidence.

Olivia is experienced with Human Rights Act claims arising from care proceedings, particularly the use and misuse of Section 20 accommodation. She has drafted many schedules of findings and skeleton arguments in respect of these claims.

Olivia is often instructed in complex private law matters. She represented a mother in a same-sex private law proceedings which centered around the grant of parental responsibility to the non-biological mother. She is familiar with HEFA 1990 and 2008 and has a particular interest in the law as it relates to modern families and same-sex couples.

Olivia is also interested in cases with an international element. She received funding from the FLBA to attend the Polish-English Bar Conference in Warsaw and has acted on behalf of Polish nationals within care proceedings.

Olivia has appeared before the High Court on many occasions. She has secured location and collections orders for local authorities, and has been instructed in injunctive proceedings involving medical treatment and Brussels II Revised.

Olivia is a warm and friendly practitioner who prides herself on her ability to form strong working relationships with both lay and professional clients.

Before coming to the bar, Olivia worked at the Women's Legal Centre in South Africa where she assisted the inquiry into sexual violence in one of South Africa's largest townships and researched and drafted requests to the African Court of Human Rights.
